Media

Curriculum	Achievement standard	By the end of Year 7, students identify and analyse how representations of social values and points of view are portrayed in the media artworks they make, distribute and view. They evaluate how they and other makers and users of media artworks from different cultures, times and places use genre and media conventions and technical and symbolic elements to make meaning. They identify and analyse the social and ethical responsibility of the makers and users of media artworks.
		Students produce representations of social values and points of view in media artworks for particular audiences and contexts. They use genre and media conventions and shape technical and symbolic elements for specific purposes and meaning. They collaborate with others in design and production processes, and control equipment and technologies to achieve their intentions.
Teaching and learning	Term overview	Semester Unit Overview In Media, students learn about what drives the digital design processes and styles based on contemporary design practices. Students are guided through a series of activities to help develop techniques and skills. Assessment	Evidence types Teachers will make judgements and provide feedback throughout the semester	Teachers make judgments about evidence of student learning against the Australian Curriculum achievement standard. During moderation processes, teachers engage in professional conversations to share their observations and judgments about evidence in student work. Schools and school clusters conduct moderation to improve the consistency, comparability and defensibility of teacher judgments, to ensure teacher judgments are as valid, reliable and fair as possible.
